Forensic Analysis

This exhibit documents a multi-source inbound RST attack where both the ISP-provided router (10.0.0.1) and a secondary device (10.0.0.41) flood the user's workstation with TCP RST packets targeting multiple service ports.

Key Findings

- 1. DUAL-SOURCE ATTACK: Two internal network devices (router and 10.0.0.41) simultaneously attack the user's workstation.
- 2. PORT SCANNING PATTERN: RSTs target well-known service ports (21, 22, 23, 25, 80, 110, 143, 443, 445, 993, 3306, 3389, 5900, 8888) indicating reconnaissance or service disruption.
- 3. MICROSECOND TIMING: RSTs arrive at 1-6µs intervals - too fast for legitimate TCP stack processing.
- 4. COORDINATED TIMING: Router and secondary device attacks are synchronized within milliseconds.
