The FBI DOJ Epstein Memo does not indicate anything about foreign investigation.

AllNewsImagesVideosShort videosForumsMoreTools

AI Overview

A Department of Justice (DOJ) and FBI memo released in July 2025 indicated that an "exhaustive review" of investigative files did not uncover evidence to justify an investigation against uncharged third parties. While the memo focused on U.S. domestic findings and dispelled conspiracy theories about a "client list" or murder, the scope of a foreign investigation was not specifically addressed in the memo's public summary.

Points concerning the DOJ and FBI memo:

- Focus on domestic conspiracy theories: The memo's primary purpose was to debunk conspiracy theories circulating among far-right circles in the United States. These theories suggested that Epstein was murdered and that a "client list" of powerful individuals was being hidden.
- No new third-party evidence: The memo stated that the extensive review of evidence, including 300 gigabytes of data, did not find new information to warrant investigating uncharged third parties. It concluded that Epstein died by suicide and that no "client list" existed in their files.
- Silence on foreign ties: The memo did not explicitly discuss or provide a conclusion on potential foreign investigations related to Epstein's international contacts. Epstein's network of associates spanned the globe, with some of his victims being trafficked to locations outside the U.S..
- Other ongoing legal actions: Investigations into Epstein's international sex trafficking activities have involved multiple jurisdictions. In 2022, Epstein's associate Ghislaine Maxwell was sentenced to 20 years in prison for her role in the international sex trafficking ring. Legal proceedings and lawsuits related to Epstein are ongoing in various courts.

Therefore, while the July 2025 memo from the DOJ and FBI focused on domestic files and investigations, it does not confirm or deny the existence of foreign investigations. Information on international aspects of the case would likely reside with foreign law enforcement agencies and through ongoing legal processes.
